STRIKERS MASS IN ALBERNI WITH AIM TO SHUT UP CAMP

Express Determination to Prevent Strike Breakers Continuing Work at Great Central Sawmill—Camp Under Protection of Provincial Police to Prevent Molestation of Workers

(Special to The Colonist)
PORT ALBERNI, April 20.—Grave fears were expressed here tonight that, unless immediate action is taken, trouble will take place at the camp of the Great Central Sawmill, which may lead to serious consequences.

A large body of Provincial Police is on hand, under orders to see that the men now working shall not be molested, while the strikers are determined that the camp shall be closed immediately.

MARCH INTO TOWN
At 8 o'clock, this evening, 210 strikers arrived in Port Alberni, having marched thirty-five miles from Parksville, and were joined here by an additional 150 strikers.

The men are hot, tired and dusty, but they wear determined expressions. They marched to the local park to hold a meeting, and were met by several hundred persons here, who cheered them on arrival. Several spoke at the meeting in the park, expressing the feeling of the men that they were determined that the camps were going to close down.

MORE TO COME
After the meeting, one of the leaders said that, so far as they were concerned, the strikebreakers would be forced to stop work, but that there would be trouble only if the police interfered. Although he admitted, twenty armed policemen will stop 300 men. "We have been advised," he said, "that another 1,000 will be immediately sent in to support us."

Well-Known Citizen Passes in Jubilee Hospital After Month's Illness

T. H. Slater, 1729 Dueson Street, well-known Victoria resident, passed away last night, in Royal Jubilee Hospital, following a month's illness. News of Mr. Slater's death will come as a distinct shock to his many friends, and his passing will be mourned by a wide circle of associates.

Since 1907, Mr. Slater was a resident of Victoria, and won the friendship and loyalty of men and women everywhere through his genial disposition and sincere desire to assist all in need. During the Great War he was extremely active in Red Cross circles, organizing drives for funds and supplies for the troops.

Active in political circles, the deceased was a Conservative leader in Esquimalt, where he lived for some years at 429 Lamson Street. He was also a prominent member of the Masonic Order in that municipality.

BORN IN ONTARIO
Born in London, Ontario, nearly seventy years ago, Mr. Slater received his education there, and entered the well-known drygoods firm of Robinson, Little & Company, of that city. Some years later, he was transferred to Winnipeg, where he assumed management of his company's branch store. On coming to Victoria, he became engaged in financial business, and was active until his recent sickness.

A man of large physique, Mr. Slater was a prominent figure in Victoria. He was a popular club man and resided for twenty years at the Union Club.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Hett, of Kamloops. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

RATES QUESTION SENT TO BOARD

Amendment to Refer Application to Railway Commission Is Carried in House

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—An amendment to refer to the Board of Railway Commissioners the question of lower rates on grain and flour, moving from the head of the lakes to the Pacific Coast, was carried in the House of Commons tonight, on a call for "ayes" and "nays."

The amendment was moved by H. J. Barber (Conservative, Fraser Valley), on a motion for second reading of a bill for reduced rates. The measure had been introduced by Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster).

The serious danger of Parliament tampering with the freight rate structure of Canada was outlined by Mon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals. The railway board, which had been set up by Parliament for the specific purpose of dealing with freight rates, was the proper tribunal to deal with this matter.

British Skiers Arrive at Knight Inlet After Five Weeks of Adventure

START BY AIR FOR VANCOUVER TODAY

KNIGHT INLET, B.C., April 20 (CP).—Three intrepid skiers of a British Alpine party arrived here today to complete the hazardous crossing of the Coast Range after five weeks of thrilling adventure. Sir Norman Watson, leader of the expedition; Wing Commander E. B. Beauman, R.A.F., president of the Alpine Club of England, and Camille Couët, famous Chamoni guide, picked a treacherous route through a nest of giant peaks and icy glaciers and emerged without accident. Accompanied by Major E. J. King, M.C. of London, and Clifford White, of Banff, Alta., well-known Canadian mountaineer, the party left Tatla Lake, B.C., March 18, to pierce the wilderness. Widow of Lynching Victim Seeks Million Dollars From California Governor

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20 (AP).—Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, who declared the lynching at San Jose last November of two kidnap-slave suspects "the best lesson California ever has given the country," was sued today for $1,000,000 by the widow of one of the victims.

Mrs. Evelyn Holmes, widow of John N. Holmes, alleged in her complaint the governor aided and abetted in inciting the public mind by statements that he would offer no protection to Holmes and Harold Thomas Thurmond, held as suspects in the kidnap-slave case of Brooke L. Hart, young San Jose merchant.

OTHER DEFENDANTS
The suit also named as defendants Sheriff William J. Emig, of Santa Clara County, from which all the men were dragged by a mob and hanged to trees; the San Jose news and radio station KGW of John Does, ten identified as San Francisco policemen.

Mrs. Holmes filed the suit in her own name and that of her two children, David, six, and Joyce, five.

Mayor of Montreal Favors Sweeps to Bolster City's Coeffers

MONTREAL, April 20 (CP).—Proceeds of lotteries or sweepstakes will be used to finance direct relief and balance Montreal's 1934-35 budget, under a proposal outlined tonight by Mayor Camille Houde.

How was this "monumental task" of balancing the budget of Montreal to be performed? Where were new sources of revenue to be found, asked the Mayor. Not in the pockets of property owners or taxpayers. "There may be a way out. Why not lotteries, or a sweepstakes project?"

He would go to Ottawa in the near future, "to say that within the lottery project lies a considerable source of revenue which, today, is leaking from Canada into foreign countries."

Several Hundred Wage Regulations May Be Necessary

MINIMUM wages being fixed by the Industrial Relations Board are not based on a general standard of living consideration, but on what is considered a fair return for services rendered in different callings. It was explained yesterday by Professor W. A. Carrothers, a leading member of the board. Because different conditions apply in different industries with variations in separate branches of these callings, there may finally be several hundred British Columbia minimum wage regulations. Dr. Carrothers intimated that that reason the board sees no anomaly in the fixation of five separate levels for the main part of the lumber industry west of the Cascades. It was stated.

League of Nations Project for Reconstruction Involves No Political Danger Is Emphasized From Geneva—Includes Only Technical Advice for Domestic Development of the Country

Great Britain's Policy In East One of Caution

GENEVA, April 20 (AP).—League of Nations circles admitted tonight that Japan opposes a League project for the reconstruction of China, but emphasized that the plan involves no political danger from China. League officials described the project as including technical advice for the development of Chinese communications, education, hygiene, river control and silk culture.

"Its only political character is to render China stronger and more united," they declared, taking cognizance of a Japanese manifesto declaring that "the time has passed when other powers or the League of Nations can prosecute their policies for the exploitation of China."

NOTED SHIP ON B.C. REEF
Schooner Malahat Ashore Near Prince Rupert—Is Leaking Badly

PRINCE RUPERT, April 20 (CP).—Back to the lumber trade, for which she was destined when launched at Victoria seventeen years ago, the five-masted schooner Malahat, one-time mother rum ship, was stranded tonight, on a reef near Holland Rock Light, five miles south of here.

Laden with aspen logs, which were to be trans-shipped at Vancouver for China, the vessel slid onto the rocky ledge shortly after leaving here on her first trip with export lumber since entering the rum trade in 1923.

LOADED AT PORT ALBERNI
A week ago, Capt. Robert Lawson took the Malahat to Port Alberni to load shingles and shingle bolts. In her first appearance in the lumber trade in a decade, she came here from Port Alberni.

Arriving tonight from Holland Rock, Capt. W. P. Armour, manager of Armour Salvage Company, stated the Malahat was holed forward and leaking considerably. She is being lightered during the night, and will probably be pulled off on high tide, about 7 o'clock Saturday morning, and brought to drydock here for inspection.

ON EVEN KEEL
Salvage steamer G. E. Foster was being steamed up tonight, to assist in pulling the Malahat off. Pumps and other equipment are being taken out tonight. The Malahat is resting on an even keel, very close to the Holland Rock Lighthouse, and is in no danger.

The stranding occurred in a dense fog about 7 o'clock this morning, two hours after high water. The salvage tug Salvage Princess is standing by.

Possible Rate War Seen With Sweeping Reductions in Seattle to New York Fares

SEATTLE, April 20 (AP).—Shipping men here tonight visualized a possible steamship rate war between the Pacific Steamship Lines and the Grace Line with announcement by the American Mail Line, allied to the Pacific, of sweeping reductions in rates between Seattle and New York.

They regarded the move as an answer to the Grace Line's recent announcement of weekly sailings between Seattle and San Francisco.

The new rates for first class fares on President and Pacific Steamship liners include fare, Seattle to New York $150, compared to the previous rate of $175, and reduction of 25 per cent for round trip.

Adjudications Made For Drama Festival To Crowded Theatre

Mrs. Burton James, of Seattle, Gives Many Helpful Suggestions to Producers and Actors in Announcing Reasons for Marking of Week's Plays

THE Vancouver Little Theatre Association's production, "Dust Into Gold," written by Mary Reynolds and directed by Guy Glover, carried off the highest marks in last night's presentations at the British Columbia Drama Festival at the Crystal Garden.

Awarded ninety-five marks, and undeniably one of the best plays as well as one of the best productions seen during the present festival, the little drama had a very cordial reception, and the adjudication was very popular. It will be one of the plays to appear in the finals at the Crystal Garden, this evening.

A play possessing fine cohesion and dramatic form, it was also splendidly directed and admirably acted by the following cast: J. W. Plummer, as the dying man, George; Ross Lort, as his reprobate, gold-greedy, half-witted son, Gerizim; and Mary Reynolds (the author) as the body-washer, "Miss Gertrude." The ghoulish humor was of a kind quite in keeping with the medieval setting; dialogue, gesture, dress and action were in harmony, and the action and characterization were always good, although the final moment of the play seemed a little weak.

ADJUDICATION PUBLIC
The two other plays, "Two Crooks and a Lady" (presented by the Fairfield Players), and the Victoria Little Theatre Association production, "Road of Poplars," received a public adjudication, although the winners did not, as this was reserved, together with the adjudication of other winners throughout the week, for tonight.

Mrs. Burton James, last night, gave her first public adjudication. This covered all the non-winning plays for every night except Monday, when Mrs. Cecil Edwards was the adjudicator in the unenviable absence of Mrs. James. Mrs. Edwards left a written adjudication of the Monday night plays, and this Major L. Bullock-Webster read to the audience. Mrs. James, in her racy preamble to her adjudication, delivered several interesting dicta that furnished a clue for her reasons in awarding or subtracting marks from plays presented during the week. She gave very special emphasis to the importance of good production and the selection of good plays, and intimated that there had been a higher percentage of good acting talent than good producing in the current drama festival.

Victoria should produce a perfectly splendid community theatre, she said at one point, referring to the amount of fine acting talent that she had seen during the week.

LITTLE THEATRE
At the very beginning of her talk, she declared a dislike for the term "Little Theatre," which had come to be synonymous with self-expression, or, as one commentator had well expressed it, "evacuation of the impulses." Any drama group that performed a play with the mere idea of amusing itself had served its purpose in performing that play. But it should confine itself to its own club group. On the other hand, the theatre that operated just for profit was no good. It had nothing to do with art, and might just as well be a dog show.

"I am amazed and delighted with the amount of talent shown in the plays given here this week. Scarcely a play has been produced that has not had one or more good actors," she said later. Generally speaking, from years of experience, she was amazed at the kind of people that wanted to act, but she was still more amazed at the kind of people who wanted to direct. The theatre she characterized as a monarchy, the director being the ruling spirit, yet subject to discharge at any moment.

"No director should be handicapped by committees," she said as her final comment before beginning her adjudications.

MONDAY PLAYS
Mrs. Cecil Edwards' adjudications for Monday were given first. These were for the Hudson's Bay Players' Club production "Crystal Clear," and the Theatre Club's "Maker of Dreams." The former was characterized as a difficult play to handle, the stage effect good, but the performance needing greater smoothness. She stressed the need of greater attention to make up, and the need of speeding-up the "land scene." Of "The Maker of Dreams," she called attention to the departure from the idea of fantasy, the weak stage-setting, and certain faultiness on the producer's part, such as, for instance, as permitting the dream-maker to wear colonial dress.

TUESDAY NIGHT
Mrs. Burton James reviewed the Tuesday night plays: "The Victoria Little Theatre Association's 'Spirit of Father Paul' had called forth what she entitled 'Empathy,' which is the creation of the opposite of sympathy in the onlooker. Her chief criticisms were directed at the play, in which connection she made the general statement that 'putting people to bed and serving food on the stage are two of the hardest things to do right.' The Croft Group's production, 'The Return,' she dismissed with the criticism that it had no excuse whatever, being a 'terrible play,' although one of the actors, Bessie McMaster, was especially praised for her excellent character work. But no actors could save such a play. 'The Bishop's Candlesticks,' produced by the Fairfield Players, although by the well-known actor, Norman McKinnel, was also defined as 'terrible,' and 'sticky, sentimental and abominable, with several very badly directed' moments, and very badly directed."

"If you have to wear a wig, be sure that it fits; and in throwing things about the stage don't create wrong empathy. It's tragic when people throw things around at home, but it's apt to be funny at the wrong moment on the stage."

WEDNESDAY PLAYS
Of the Wednesday night plays, "Voltaire Remembers," by the Pen Players, was dismissed as "not a play so much as a nice piece of journalism," and the make-up of the actors was harshly criticized.

"The Slave With Two Faces," presented by the Reece Burns Studio Players, was praised as "excellently directed," but damned as "a lamentable play."

THURSDAY NIGHT
"Everybody's Husband," presented by the North Saanich Little Theatre on Thursday night, "didn't quite click," although two of the actors were highly commended.

The Victoria Little Theatre Association's "Birthdays of the Infants," was criticized as an indefinite play "that started out as a definite thing, and ended up by being nothing at all." In the production, a definite fault had been committed by establishing a realistic note, in what was supposed to be more or less fantasy, by giving the costumes of guards and thus "setting a line on costumes." The role of the Infants was played particularly well, as was that of the Hunchback. Again the adjudicator stressed that directing could make or break a play, and had been responsible for much of the short-coming of this play.

FRIDAY PLAYS
The two non-winning plays last night were the Fairfield Players' "Two Crooks and a Lady," described by Mrs. James again as a terrible play, not a play, but one of the silliest things that ever was, and the Victoria Little Theatre Association's production, "Road of Poplars," which, although an uneven play, was very well done, the role of the shell-shocked ex-soldier, Charlie, being splendidly acted. This part fell to H. S. Hurn. The remainder of the cast did not quite come up to this fine standard. This type of play required excellent handling.

The entire music last night was furnished by the Victoria Little Theatre Orchestra.

WAGE SCALE IS ASSURED

Civic Committee Ready to Proceed With Taxi-Cab Regulation By-Law

Assurance has been given the city by the Provincial Government that a minimum wage for taxi drivers will be provided for through the Industrial Relations Board, Alderman Alexander Peden, chairman of the industrial committee, informed the members of that board at a meeting held yesterday.

The industrial committee met to discuss the proposed by-law for the regulation of the taxi cab business, particularly as it affects rates.

The chairman said that he felt that if a minimum wage were established and a minimum rate set, the question of unfair competition would automatically be eliminated.

Settlement of the question as to whether meters should be made compulsory, or whether a zoning system for rates should be instituted, was left in abeyance until next Tuesday, when legal representatives for the various taxi cab factors will be asked to appear before the committee to state their views.

This meeting will be held at 3:15 o'clock.

PENETRATE MAZE OF PEAKS AND GLACIERS

BASE AT FURY GAP
The established base camp near Fury Gap at the base of mighty Mount Waddington, 13,260 feet above sea level, was reached by the party of about thirty men and pack animals after a long and arduous journey.

The packers returned to Tatla Lake and the three daring skiers penetrated one of the wildest mountain regions of North America. Watson and his two companions struggled against severe weather as they negotiated dangerous furys.

They were delayed several days by driving blizzards and were forced to make camp in the half-shelter of snow-laden rock ridges.

MYRIADS OF GLACIERS
Finally, as the weather moderated slightly, they made their way to the crest of the pass, approximately 12,000 feet. Below them stretched myriads of glaciers dotting the slopes of Mount Waddington, once known as Mystery Mountain, because the existence of such a giant peak in British Columbia was doubted by all but the few who had entered the wild and beautiful district.

The men made their way twenty-five miles down mighty Franklin Glacier, which they found to be a better weather on their part of the journey, they needed all their experience to avoid yawning crevasses and ever-threatening avalanches.

COMPARATIVELY EASY
They neared sea level in safety and made their way to Knight Inlet, a small settlement on the coast, north of Vancouver. The trip of more than twenty-five miles to this small settlement was comparatively easy.

Sir Norman and his companions planned to fly south by seaplane to Vancouver tomorrow. They intended to get in touch as soon as possible with Major King and White at the Fury Gap base camp, notify them of the successful crossing and arrange for their return to civilization.

ORDERLY IN TOWN
All is orderly in Port Alberni, tonight, the men co-operating with the Chief of Police Davey to see that there is no trouble. Men are posted at the beer parlors to see that none of the strikers enter, and strict discipline is being maintained among the men.

Bruce Parris, head of the Great Central Sawmill, in a statement by telephone tonight, declared that there would be no trouble there. The police were there only to protect the company's property and those working for it, and would not start any trouble.

The funeral service for Mrs. Julia W. Buckley was conducted by Very Rev. C. B. Cameron yesterday afternoon in the presence of many friends. The hymns were "Rock of Ages" and "Lead, Kindly Light."

Rev. John Antle May Retire as Mission Leader

VANCOUVER, April 20. (CP).—The early retirement of Rev. John Antle, superintendent of the Columbia Coast Mission, has been intimated by Mr. Antle to the delegates at the Synod of the Diocese of New Westminster meeting here.

He stated the new mission vessel, donated by English friends and bearing the name John Antle, would be ready for service soon to replace the Columbia.

ASPARAGUS IS MOVING WELL

Dumping Duty on Imported Product Gives Market to Local Sellers

A new dumping duty of five and one half cents per pound on imported asparagus, effective today, will give complete trade in this vegetable to local growers, it was learned along wholesale row yesterday.

A dumping duty on California lettuce, enforced for the first time on Thursday, also gives this commodity to local growers.

In this case, however, the duty is not ready yet, and, accordingly, prices will jump for the next few days. Lettuce selling at ten cents and asparagus at eight cents will be changed to smaller lettuce, selling at ten cents straight and the former grade at two for twenty-five cents.

STRAWBERRIES DOWN
A huge shipment of Honolulu pineapples was received here yesterday and Australian grapes will arrive today, thus ending a famine in the latter fruit. California strawberries are selling well here and are retailing at twenty cents per box, a drop of five cents over previous prices.

All tomatoes being sold now are local homegrown products. The shortage of bananas here is acute, but relief is in sight for at least several days.

Butter continued its slide down, earlier in the week, by dropping one cent a pound. Cowhick Creameries still holds fast at the top price of thirty-seven cents per pound.

Makes Offer To Festival Contestants

Immediately prior to the Music Festival each year, Fletcher Bros. are taking part in the various piano-forte competitions to arrange practice hours in their Steinway building on the third floor. This is the largest private salon in the city of Victoria, and the participants have the privilege of practicing upon the instruments which will be used at the first United Church Music Festival will be displayed in Fletcher Bros' windows next week.

They were charged with high treason, for having taken part in the February riots in Austria.

Marie Balagno, Aged Eleven Years, Receives Ovation in Shrine Auditorium—W. Balagno, Violinist, Also Accorded Fine Tribute

A shy, serious little eleven-year-old pianist played to a discriminating audience of musicians in the Shrine Auditorium last night and won their whole-hearted approval by sheer talent and interpretative ability. The hostess, Marie's famous, assisted by W. Balagno, violinist, who also was given an ovation.

Miss Balagno took three bows at the close of the programme, and the audience was clamorous for an encore. However, the programme was an ambitious one, and an encore for so small, yet accomplished an artist, was almost too much to expect.

NOT AGREED ON TAXATION PLAN

Mining Delegation at Ottawa Delays in Calling on Finance Minister

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—Up until a late hour tonight, no steps had been taken by representatives of the mining interests to obtain an appointment with Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance. The delegation arrived in Ottawa yesterday morning for the purpose of protesting against the new 10 per cent gold tax, and its members since have been in conferences with Hon. Wesley Gordon, Minister of Mines.

The Government, it is understood, has remained convinced that the gold mining industry should pay $10,000,000 a year to the Dominion treasury, the amount which it is estimated the new levy would provide.

READY FOR SUGGESTIONS
The Minister of Finance, however, was ready to listen to suggestions from the mining interests for any further method of imposing the tax.

The reports tonight were that the members of the mining delegation were unable to reach an agreement as to any other plan. Suggestions had been considered that the system followed in South Africa, adopted in Canada. There the tax is based on the profits made per ton of ore mined.

TAMMANY HALL OUSTS LEADER

New York Political Body Deposits Chief for First Time in History

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP).—Tammany Hall for the first time in history tonight deposed its leader, the suave and imperturbable John F. Curry.

Curry, whose opponents had dubbed him "The Dean of Blunders," was voted out of the post he had held for five years, 14-13 to 1-6, at a closed meeting of the wigwag's executive committee.

A triumvirate is expected to be named by the committee to operate Tammany Hall, a policy which sometimes has been followed in periods of stress.

Three Ills Routed

Health Tip From Woman of 67

"For headache—constipation—rheumatism—I thank Kruschen. And since I have used it, I am in very much better health. In fact, I hardly ever wake with those bad pains in the back and general feeling of lassitude. Kruschen has helped me beyond words. I am 67 and feel young."—Thus writes Mrs. M. G.

It is reasonable to ask why it is that headache, constipation, and rheumatism all yield so completely to Kruschen? What is the secret of Kruschen's effectiveness against these different complaints? The secret is an open one. It is revealed in the analysis on the bottle—of better scope than Kruschen's average Six vital mineral salts. That is the secret. Each of these six salts has an action of its own. Where one does, stomach, liver, kidneys and digestive tract are all benefited and toned up to a top-notch condition of efficiency. (Adv.)

CREDITORS ARE TO GET FACTS

Fuller Investigation Will Be Made Into Affairs of J. W. Maynard

The first meeting of the creditors of J. W. Maynard, held yesterday, named H. G. Hinton as trustee, and selected three inspectors, A. E. Haynes, H. A. Beckwith and T. W. Hawkins, who are authorized to go into the affairs of business, and report later as to the situation. The inspectors were authorized to secure counsel and arrange to have Mr. Maynard examined under oath. It was further decided to endorse the proposal made by Mr. Hinton that the superintendent in bankruptcy should be asked to make an investigation into the affair.

The meeting was held in the courthouse with Brian Trywhitt Drake as custodian in bankruptcy, presiding at the opening, until the organization was completed. With a very large number of creditors in the city, the meeting was largely attended by these, and by barristers representing other claimants who were not present.

EXPERTS TO REPLY

Not until after the preliminary organization took place and Mr. Maynard presented himself to answer any questions, was there any feeling manifested. In reply to questions, Mr. Maynard stated he hoped to pay every dollar of the indebtedness.

"I will not borrow a dollar; I will make it," he said.

Asked why the business fell into the condition it did, he replied: "My ship was sailing fine at the start."

He stated that for three years after starting, the business had brought him in $10,000 a year. He ascribed his failure to interest charges, inflation of values, limited capital at the start, with losses especially in the children's department later.

The statement of the situation of the business, as submitted by Mr. Drake to the meeting showed unsecured liabilities of $39,772, with secured creditors' claims amounting to $12,464. Preferred creditors had claims of $439. The total assets were placed at $10,223.

Mr. Drake stated these figures were those which had been submitted to him. He was not responsible for them.

GREATER LIABILITIES

When the meeting was turned over to Mr. Hinton, the latter said that it was difficult to say just in what position affairs were, as claims were coming in, in addition to those at first received.

After reviewing the situation, he placed the total liabilities at something over $49,000, with assets of a total of perhaps $10,000.

Questions were asked as to individual loans alleged to have been made, but it was suggested that it would be better to delay this until counsel was selected, and Mr. Maynard could be examined on oath. Those having aggravated claims to present were asked to give the information to Mr. Hinton.

Old Age Deferred

By Increasing Nerve Force

As age advances and nerve force wanes, There is a slowing down of the bodily machinery.

The functions of the lungs, the heart, the stomach. Gradually become less perfect. They are not necessarily diseased. But motive power is diminishing. The vital nerve force which runs the machinery. The nervous system demands an abundance of rich, red blood from which to manufacture New nerve force.

Iron is the chief ingredient of the blood. Put iron into the blood and soon You will have a new supply of nerve force. The use of Dr. Cassell's Nerve Food is a most satisfactory way to supply iron. It is quickly and easily taken up by the blood stream.

The nervous system is invigorated, And the new nerve force brings new strength, Vigor and energy to the whole body.

PAYMENT ON TIMBER MADE

Kapoor Lumber Co. Gives
City Cheque for $12,000—
Agreement Studied

The Kapoor Lumber Company, yesterday, made its initial payment in connection with the sale of the timber on the Goldstream watershed by the city. The cheque was made out for $12,000.

The remaining $50,500 will be paid in monthly installments of $4,000 each, to begin immediately upon logging operations or not later than twelve months after the signing of the agreement.

Yesterday the water committee continued its review of the agreement of sale. It was stipulated that the Kapoor Lumber Company should be responsible for any loss from fire and also for the minimizing of the fire hazard.

PROTECT LAKES
The company also undertakes to leave the trees bordering the various lakes standing a distance of at least 400 feet from the margin of the lake. This will prevent the lake shores from being deprived of too much of their pristine beauty.

Provision also has been made so that if the company takes more than 2,000,000 feet of lumber a month, the city will be paid a sum additional to the $4,000, and equivalent to the value of the extra timber logged off.

In the opinion of most members of the council, the agreement as it now stands is one of the best that has been drawn up, and protects the city to the fullest extent. A great deal of credit for this was given to Alderman Andrew McClavin, chairman of the waterworks committee, and H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, who drafted the agreement.

The new executive includes a majority of members who were not on the board last year. With the secretary, who has served so long and is very familiar with the work of the organization, and with the experience of the president, the executive is regarded as exceptionally representative.

The matter was raised on a report that Victoria had not taken any action in seeking any work being done here before the report went from Vancouver to Ottawa and the matter was put in the report for Victoria the designation of a committee.

DEFENDS BOARD
J. O. Cameron met the suggestion that the Chamber of Commerce had fallen on the matter by stating that the board had had this matter up and had gone on record as expressing itself as not in favor of expenditure of money on non-productive propositions or those that would represent recurring expenditures.

The Chamber had put forward the favored granting of a loan if such a proposal was possible, to be used in the erection of home buildings.

G. H. Stevens, for the Chamber of Commerce, reiterated the stand taken by the Chamber, saying that the Chamber of Commerce had been the matter, but in view of the fact that there was nothing to put forward, there would be money spent on the expenditure, it had not been thought well to subscribe to any definite suggestion.

With respect to the marketing of the produce, the Chamber of Commerce had been the matter, but in view of the fact that there was nothing to put forward, there would be money spent on the expenditure, it had not been thought well to subscribe to any definite suggestion.

BETTING AND LOTTERIES

The British Government has prepared a pretty kettle of fish for itself in its Betting and Lotteries Bill now before Parliament. It has been received with perhaps the most mixed feeling of any measure for some years past. Briefly summarized it limits betting on race tracks to 104 days a year. The totalizer is to be legalized on licensed greyhound tracks, and subject to a limitation of profits. There are to be legalized facilities for small lotteries (at bazaars, etc.), and private lotteries, subject to restrictions. Otherwise all lotteries, including the Irish sweepstakes, are made illegal. Certain competitions, organized by newspapers or trading firms, offering prizes for forecasting events, are also made illegal.

In a country like Britain this is legislation of a far-reaching character. It is recognition that betting cannot be stopped, but that it may be controlled by law. There are some provisions of the measure which are widely welcome, others as severely condemned. One newspaper, The London Evening Standard, believes the whole Bill is thoroughly bad, and says: "It is the most preposterous and vexatious piece of legislation which it has been sought to impose on the people since D.O.R.A. was born. The business of the Government is to attend to important matters and not to legislate against the simple pleasures of the people; and the instinctive exclamation of the ordinary man on seeing this new Bill must be, 'for pity's sake, leave us alone.'
Public opinion will not oppose the stamping out of the Irish sweepstake and foreign sweepstakes as far as British subscribers are concerned, but it will deplore the fact that the laws against the holding of sweepstakes in this country are to be reinforced in spite of public demand. This country will not accept such a prohibition any more than America accepted the Eighteenth Amendment. Here, as there, the law will be broken, with public opinion on the side of the offenders, and evil will be brought upon the State. Here, as there, an agitation for repeal will arise and will become a major political issue."

THE "WISDOM" OF EXPERTS

It is the egotistic certainty of experts in any branch of human knowledge that has a tendency to bring about revolt in the mind of any man of well-balanced judgment. He realizes that no statement is ever true just because an expert, or for that matter, a million experts have said so.
It is only true so far as it corresponds with objective reality. That is the finding of Dr. C.
J. Wright, of Didsbury College, in an article in The London Quarterly Review, and in this respect he says that science is no more a heap of facts than a house is a heap of stones.

According to Dr. Wright the inadequacy of a statistical law lies in the human formulator, or his mental calculations, that are at fault. Dr.
Wright says that to explain the correctness of human predictions by saying that they belong to the same order of "predictions" as those involved in the actuarial tables of an insurance company in no way invalidates the universality of the principle of causation. Entirely unforeseen events may upset the calculations of all actual experts. That means that there should be knowledge of the fallibility of "laws," a conception, however, which should not invalidate the notion of law itself.

"Law," says Dr. Wright, "means our faith;
that there is order, relation, in reality itself;
while 'laws' mean that we have been able approximately to describe this order, this relation.
When our laws have been shown by our further observations to be inadequate we don't give up our endeavors to repair; we set about seeking on the basis of Law to achieve less inadequate 'laws.' In regard to none of our scientific 'laws' can we have absolute certainty; we can only have relative certitude. Yet we know that things are as they are, and not as we think them to be.
The existence of external reality and of a real connectedness in this reality are the two 'faiths' indispensable to science."

ECONOMIC EXPERIMENTS

If the present depression, or perhaps it would be more accurate to say the depression out of which we are now emerging, has been marked by a profusion of economic theories, put forward with much more boldness and enthusiasm than discretion, it is only proper to recognize the fact that many of these ill-considered theories are neither much better nor much worse than those which were tried out during earlier depressions.
In 1700, while Canada was under the "Royal Government" of the French King, an awkward situation arose in the beaver trade. The demand for beaver by the French hatters had fallen off by reason of an unlucky fashion of small hats, and on account also of the practice of mixing rabbit fur with the beaver. Great quantities of unsalable furs accumulated in the colony. Various devices were tried. The King was implored to issue a decree requiring hatmakers to put at least three ounces of beaver fur into each hat. Attempts were made to keep production of beaver within the capacity of the market. In the end the directors of the fur company decided to burn three-fourths of the collected furs.

There were currency problems in Canada in the seventeenth century. Beaver skins had long served as currency. In 1669 when beaver became scarce. Five years later the council ordered all creditors to accept beaver skins at the market price. Coin was extremely scarce. At various times a quantity was brought out to the colony, but it immediately found its way back in the returning ships. In 1685 the Intendant had no money to pay the soldiers. He betought himself of the idea of creating money out of playing cards. Accordingly, to use his own words, quoted by Parkman, "not knowing to what saint to make

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

In these green days
Revising sickness life her languid head
Life flows again, and young-eyed health exalts
The busy slide, and feels an inward life spring over his mind, beyond the power of "sickness"
To purchase.

How Flora decks the fields
With all her tapestry! And the shoulders Of every grove chant carol mirth in the breeze.
To visit mortalia. Every thing is blithe, Joyous and jovial.

THE WOMEN'S WORKROOM

There is little need to commend to the public the benefits of the Women's Workroom, because it has justified its existence to the full, has assisted materially in finding relief work for unemployed and particularly for a class of unemployed who might otherwise have been helpless.
There has been an ever-growing recognition of the asset it has made itself in the community during the past few years, and its usefulness will continue just so long as the problem remains of finding enough work to go round. It has been supported very largely by public subscription, by donations, and generally speaking, because of a generosity that does credit to Victorians. They are being asked today, through the medium of a tag day, to enable the work to be carried on for a further period. The response should be generous, for in the scheme of relief the Women's Workroom, admirably organized and conducted with every economy, is playing an important role. It is, in fact, an outlet for philanthropic energy which has won the staunch support of the people of Victoria. The more they feel inclined to give today the longer the good work can be maintained.

THE NEW DALAI LAMA

An Associated Press dispatch from Hongkong printed yesterday reported the arrival there of a party of fifty Tibetan Lamas en route to Nanking "to tell the Panchen Lama, for years an exile, that the people of Tibet want him to succeed the late Dalai Lama as ruler of the land."
We are inclined to think that the Associated Press is somewhat mixed in its understanding of the situation in Tibet. The party of Lamas in question comprises officials who were sent out by the Tashi Lama, last year, to study the situation in Tibet. They are now going to Nanjing to report that conditions are favorable for his return. The Tashi Lama, joint heir with the Dalai Lama to the Buddhist inheritance, has been living in exile in China since 1925. His proposed return to Lhasa is not to succeed the late Dalai Lama as ruler of the land, but to act as spiritual tutor to the new Dalai Lama.

There is a fair for codes in industry at the present time, governments in this particular showing a disposition to take the motive out of the hands of the Trade Union movement. No one, however, who is busily engaged in framing such codes urges that the oldest code of all should be remembered and put into practice according to both the letter and the spirit. The Ten Commandments continue to stand where all other codes fail, possibly because they were divinely ordained and not decreed on the basis of an ephemeral public opinion.

A THOUGHT

Take heed of this small child of earth;
He is great: he bathed in him God most high;
Children before their earthly birth
Are lights alive in the blue sky.
In our little world of wrong
His speech: God gives them us awhile.
His power is in their stammering tongue,
And His forgiveness in their smile.

—Victor Hugo.
Why should we strive, with cynic frown,
To knock their fairy castles down?
—Eliza Cook.

BIBLE TEACHINGS

Sir,—I read the letter in Tuesday's Colonist by (Mrs.) Nora E. de Kussel. I believe the letter is written with very good intention, but leaves one wondering whether the writer believes in the Bible, and if so, whether she has ever found real comfort in its teachings. I would like to carry on a little farther and say that real comfort, real rest and help are to be found through its pages, but to obtain such, one must get a deeper understanding than the mere reading of the words conveys. To find the rest which is promised to all who labor, are heavy-laden and oppressed, the word parable is not

INFIRMARY PLAN MADE

Aged Men's Home Committee Has Enough Funds to Construct Wing

Plans for the proposed infirmary to be built on to the Aged Men's Home Building were laid before the Aged Men's Home committee of the City Council yesterday for consideration. C. E. Wood Watkins is the architect.

The wing will cost $60,000 and accommodate sixteen patients, two of them in private wards, and the remainder in one long dormitory. It is estimated that the inmates could be handled at a cost of $30 a month for each patient. At present the city pays $30 a month to various institutions, exclusive of clothes, medicines and other extras.

If the wing were built, the present kitchen in the Aged Men's Home would be used. The staff would be increased to include two male nurses and an orderly.

BRICK CONSTRUCTION

The building would be of solid brick construction, and would be in conformity with the rest of the buildings now erected.

Donations amounting to $4,000 already have been received by the committee toward the construction cost of the home, while there is a $2,000 fund, raised through entertainments, that might be used to help finance the new wing.

Another meeting of the committee will be held before any recommendation is made to the council.

NOW PASTOR OF CHURCHES HERE

Rev. T. H. McAllister, Port Alberni, Becomes Minister of Gorge and Erskine

REV. T. H. McALLISTER

Rev. T. H. McAllister, former pastor of Knox Church in Port Alberni, and one who has contributed much to church work on the Island and Mainland, has taken over the pastorate of the Gorge and Erskine Presbyterian Churches here.

Mr. McAllister has filled an important place in the religious and community life of Port Alberni ever since 1929, when he became pastor of Knox Church, which then held services in the Native Sons Hall, and it was mainly through his efforts that the new church was constructed on Third Avenue, off Argyle Street. The new edifice was opened on July 8, last year.

ACTIVE WORKER

During which active in Port Alberni, Mr. McAllister took an active interest in the affairs of the municipality and for two years was secretary of the Port Alberni Agricultural Association, and secretary of the Alberni District Commission since its organization. He was also an active member of the Port Alberni branch of the Canadian Red Cross.

Mr. McAllister served four years with the 29th Battalion and was in France three and a half years. He is a graduate of the University of Alberta and Robertson Presbyterian College, Edmonton.

J. O. Cameron Explains to Real Estate Board Way in Which Lumber Trade Is Maintained

At a meeting of the Real Estate Board yesterday, a reference in the address of Byron Johnson, M.P.P., to the advisability of granting aid to enable industries to carry on, afforded J. O. Cameron, who was present, the opportunity to explain the position in which his company stood.

He said that his company had been able to keep operating with some fifty men on the payroll, since the fire some years ago.

In doing this they had not found it necessary under conditions to start up the sawmill of their own. Instead, they had had local mills cut the lumber for them. At first they had had the Esquimalt mill doing cutting for them. Later Moore & Whittington had done their cutting, and arrangements had been made also with Lemon & Gossman to do cutting. In this way the necessary work had been carried out without starting their own mill, which had worked to the advantage of the general trade in the city.

AFTER WORLD'S COLLIDE

CHAPTER XIII

It was a hilarious midnight picnic in the impromptu dining-hall, where the men and women dared to eat as much as they wanted for the first time since their epochal journey—where they sang hymns, shouted snatches of gay songs from lost days on the vanished earth, and laughed again, over hilariously. Tony found himself compelled to repeat again and again details of the city which Eliot James and he had found; again and again he had to iterate how Henderson and Eve and all their people had fared; and how the three had died from the strange disease.

In return he gained other items from this and that of his companions, who enabled him gradually to piece together a more coherent account of the second band of Argonauts. The horrible day of the landing as the fog cleared away, revealing moment by moment the magnitude of the disaster which had overtaken them; the screams of the wounded; the crushed and mangled bodies of the dead; the desperate efforts of the doctors and surgeons among them to save those who were not beyond hope. The shocking discovery that every one of the seeds so carefully stored on "A pilot perhaps," pronounced Vanderbilt softly, "a million years dead?"

Tony nodded; the inclination of his head in this affirmative made them jump.

"You don't believe it?" Peter Vanderbilt rebuked him.

"You, said Tony, 'haven't been in their city. We were there three days, and never ceased to expect them to walk out any door.'"

"After a million years dead?"

"How do we know how it might have been?"

"We know," Jack Taylor reminded him, "how long it must have been at the very shortest. Less than a million years, to be sure; but plenty long in the dark and absolute zero. They never could have survived it."

Tony looked at him. "Why?"

"Because they couldn't," Tony said. "You mean, because we couldn't have. But we're not—they're not." Peter Vanderbilt flicked a speck from his sleeve.

"The machine could have come from one source," he suggested, "the pilot from another. The machine could have survived the million years cold; we know that some did. You saw them. But the pilot never had survived no more than a passage from earth—"

"Her name's Clara," said Randell. "Nobody brought her over. Everybody denied they had anything to do with her being on board. But there she was."

The ship had been burned by the unleashed atomic blast. The necessary destruction of the animals which had survived the crash, and the utilization of them for food. Rationing, then, and hunger. Long and weary expeditions on foot in search of sustenance and vegetation.

"For a while," said Jack Taylor, "then believed that nobody else—no other ship from earth—got over. We felt that, desperate as our situation was, yet we were the luckiest."

"But two weeks ago," put in Peter Vanderbilt, "we began to believe differently."

"Why?" asked Tony.

"Airplane," replied Vanderbilt succinctly. "It didn't land."

"Neither did ours," said Tony. "You mean you sent it? It was your machine?" Randell swiftly demanded.

"Not two weeks ago," Tony denied. "We had nothing in the air then. I mean, an airplane visited us too; and it didn't too plainly appear."

"But you saw it?"

"We got a glimpse of it—a glint of light on a wing touching the clouds," explained Tony. "Did you see more here?"

"Yes," said Randell. "We got a shape—a silhouette. Queer type; we couldn't identify it. Long, back-pointed wings. Like larks' wings, somebody said. It looked like a giant lark in the sky."

Tony looked up from Randell to Eliot James, who had joined the circle. "Well," said Tony to Eliot. "Well, yourself?" Eliot James retorted.

"You say it?"

"Say what?" demanded Randell impatiently. "You know whose plane it was? What party brought that type over?"

"No party," said Tony bluntly. "What do you mean?"

"What I say. No party from earth brought that ship with them. It wasn't brought over."

He had gone a little pale, as he spoke; and he wiped his forehead and then his hands with his handkerchief.

"What—the hell!" whispered Jack Taylor with awed deliberation. "I said," iterated Tony solemnly, "it wasn't brought over. On the edge of the city of the Other People of which we've been telling you—under the great glass dome, but near an edge where they could be run out easily—was a sort of hangar of those things. We saw a hundred of them. Like larks, they'd look in the sky—all-metal larks of marvelous design. They had engines. Did you tell them of the engine in that car we found wrecked before we went off to find the city?" He appealed to Eliot James. Eliot nodded.

"Well," said Tony, "they had engines of that same small, powerful type. We recognized it; but we couldn't get one going. We tried to."

He stopped, wet his lips.

"Go on! For God's sake, go on!"

"All right," said Tony. "But where do I go from there? What am I to tell you? I can tell you this: for I know it. I saw it. I saw the machines; and I felt them with my hands; and as I told you, I tried to make the engine work, but Eliot and I couldn't."

"The Other People—the People a Million Years Dead—the inhabitants of Broken Beta—had air craft that would look, in the air, like nothing we had on earth but a lark. They had small, economical and evidently exceedingly powerful engines that propelled them by a motive power we haven't learned to employ."

"I believe it was one of those machines which flew over you—and over us."

"Flew?" repeated Peter Vanderbilt calmly. "Of itself? No pilot?"

Tony shook his head.

Unabashed, she studied him. "You look shot," she said finally. Tony grinned. "I am a little tired."

"You're all in. But then, everybody's tired around here always."

"Her name," Randell murmured as she approached, "is Marian Jackson. Lived in St. Louis. An acrobatic dancer. Kept her head during the chaos before the destruction. Read about our plans. Crawled into camp the night before we took off. Lived in the woods for weeks before that—nobody knows what on."

The girl reached the table and took Tony's hand. "I've heard about you," she said. "Often. You don't look anything like I supposed you would."

"I'm glad to meet you," Tony replied.

"Unabashed, she studied him. 'You look shot,' she said finally. Tony grinned. 'I am a little tired.'" skull. The deceased was eighty-two years old.

The evidence of Charles O'Rand, driver of the other automobile in the accident, was that he was driving carefully, proceeding north on Monterey. He saw a car on his right, travelling west on Windsor Road. Witness said that he slowed up, and the auto driven by Mr. Guit-cliffe did the same. Mr. O'Rand stated his car was just moving when it collided with the other one, which was pushed into a turf bank. The occupant fell forward, hitting his head against the door on the left side, and fell out of the car. He was assisted by others who were close by in rendering aid. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

INCREASED VALUES FOR DUTY PURPOSES EFFECTIVE IN MAY

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—Increased values for duty purposes on imports of green onions and shallots, radishes and spinach, have been approved by the Minister of National Revenue.

The value for duty on green onions and shallots has been fixed at an advance of 4 cents per pound on the true invoice value from May 1 to November 8. In the case of radishes, the advance is 5 cents per pound, and in that of spinach, 14 cents per pound. The advance on radishes prevails during the same period as that of onions and shallots. In the case of spinach it continues from May 1 to November 30.

JURY FINDS DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury that investigated, yesterday, the circumstances connected with the collision of cars at the corner of Monterey Avenue and Windsor Road, on April 9, which resulted in fatal injuries to Albert Sutcliffe, 1542 Windsor Place. Dr. E. W. Bock said death, which occurred on Thursday, was due to a fracture of the Daughters of the Empire Standard Bearers

During the Course of the Annual Meeting of Provincial Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, the Standard Bearers Played a Prominent Part. They Are Shown Herewith, Headed by Miss Gladys Hindmarch, Provincial Standard Bearer, Who is Also Regent of the Malaspina Chapter, of Nanaimo.

which was very highly commended by Miss Clay. "Home Life in All Lands," by Charles Morris, and "The Girl's Guide," by Helen Perry, were also mentioned.

HANDICRAFTS
The subject of handicrafts makes particular appeal to Girl Guides, and such books as the following would do much towards its encouragement: "Handicrafts for Girls," by Edward Hamilton; "The Girl's Guide," by Helen Perry; "Hobbies for Girls," by Mabel Gibbons; "Black and White," by Lin, was the story of the making of books.

Of inspiration to girls would be "When I Was a Girl," by Helen Perry, and "Girls Who Made Good," by Kirkland. Another highly recommended work was "An Outline of Knowledge," by Naomi Mitchison, which Miss Clay said she would like to see in possession of every Guide company.

BOOKS RECOMMENDED
An interesting announcement was that "Junior Cry Havoc," by Beverly Nichols, specially written for young people, was on its way to Victoria, and 8,000 copies had been ordered for schools in Ontario. Miss Clay believed that it would also be introduced in British Columbia.

FOLK DANCING
Perhaps nobody in British Columbia is better equipped to speak on the subject of folk dancing than Miss Aline Stewart Williams, who, in addition to years of study of this subject, spent last summer in England, where she did intensive advanced work, and is now conducting popular dancing classes in Victoria.

Under the title "English Folk Dancing," she gave an outline of the history and origin of this type of dance and pointed out why it should be encouraged amongst Guides.

Rangers and Guides. The English dances fall into three distinct classes, sword, Morris and country. All of great antiquity and knowledge about which no greater authority could be found than the late Cecil Sharp, who had been the means of saving "these national treasures."

Miss Williams told of many of the most famous dances, including the horn dance, the only one of its kind, and which resembled the sword and Morris types. These were distinctly ceremonial dances, while the country dances were more "social."

IMPORTANCE OF MUSIC
The importance of the music was emphasized by the speaker, and although it appeared to be very simple, it was most difficult to play and the accents and phrasing were of great variety.

"The idea that folk dancing means clod hopping about in big boots is dying a natural death," Miss Williams continued, and the dancing of the peasant folk of England, combining years of practice, produced a wonderful lightness and control and easy grace.

Through the medium of the English Folk Dancing Society, an effort was being made to make the sword, Morris and country dances live again all over England and in every country where the descendants of English people were to be found.

"They are full of action and clean joy; they require a retentive and alert mind, a sense of rhythm, poise and endurance, coupled with a strong team spirit; they give splendid exercise and keep enjoyment, and provide an ideal outlet for energy and emotions; they educate a love of music and a sense of the beauty of movement and give immense scope for self-expression," said Miss Williams.

"Should we not make a great effort to see that every Guide and Ranger is given the opportunity to enjoy this wealth of song and dance which is our national heritage?" she declared, in conclusion.

DISTRICT REPORTS
Interesting reports showing excellent progress in all districts were read by their commissioners and delegates. Miss Leigh read the Burnaby report; Miss Stewart Williams read the report of Central Okanagan; Mrs. Greig, Central Vancouver Island; Mrs. C. R. Wilson, Cheam; Mrs. Kinloch, Cowichan Valley; Mrs. Williams, Fraser; Mrs. F. E. Bockert, Kootenay; Miss Williams, South Okanagan; Mrs. Gale, South Vancouver Island; Mrs. Goodwin, Island; Mrs. Goodwin, Island.

"Guiding in India" was the subject of a report which was read by the provincial commissioner.

EXTENSION WORK
Miss Leigh, commissioner for extension work, and also a worker for the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, gave a most interesting talk of the work being carried on among the blind in this province, and suggested how Guides might help along this humanitarian undertaking.

She spoke of the four blind Guides in a company in Vancouver, where they are treated exactly as the others, and thus encouraged in self-confidence and self-reliance.

Miss Williams also suggested that Guides and Rangers might look up cripples and take them out, or read to invalids, all these good works being within the scope of Guiding in its highest sense.

BROWNIE TEST WORK
Brownie test work and the importance of Brownie training in the Guide movement were dealt with by Mrs. E. W. Abraham, Brown Owl of First Victoria West Pack.

This section, the speaker explained, takes the child between the ages of eight and eleven, when the child mind is most impressionable and habits most impressionable or bad. Therefore, a great responsibility is carried with it, and the opportunity, rests with the Brown Owl.

After detailing the qualifications of a full-fledged Brownie, the speaker noted that enrollment was a very important day in a Brownie's life, and mothers should be invited to this ceremony, and give an opportunity to understand what the training means, and to co-operate with the Brown Owl.

The tests were divided into four divisions: Intelligence, health, handicrafts and service, and Mrs. Abraham described these in detail as they apply to second class and first class Brownies.

Health tests were important, and here the Brown Owl must aim at common sense, and see that each rule is clearly understood. Correct breathing and posture, care of the teeth and nails were taught.

MORE DIFFICULT TESTS
To win her first-class badge, the Brownie had more difficult tests, and a high standard of work should be required of them. These tests included semaphore, knotting, a useful garment, plant growing and simple cooking.

The first-class Brownie must know two verses of "Ode to the King," and, incidentally, the correct way to stand when it is sung; eight points of the compass; how to lay and light a fire; to fold clothes neatly; to carry a message correctly; bind up a cut finger or grazed knee; know what to do if one's clothing catches fire, and clean her own shoes.

All these things taught patience, perseverance and thoroughness, and a Brownie who passes these tests before she is eleven years old, gains her "wings," and achieves great honour for herself and her pack.

Proficiency badges can be worked for when first class tests are passed, but it is well to remember that it is not the number of badges which count, but the real spirit of usefulness, good sportsmanship and service, the speaker emphasized.

A display of handicrafts by Brownies, Guides and Rangers in all parts of the province is being held in connection with the annual meeting, and the exhibit judged the best in the show will be sent as British Columbia's contribution to the Handicrafts Exhibition in Switzerland. Weaving, basketry, painting, carving and many unusual types of hand work were on view.

During the afternoon there was lively discussion regarding Guide uniforms, many of the delegates announcing that their Guides objected to the regulation hat and uniform, on the grounds that it was "too hot in summer," "not fashionable," and so forth. Many of the commissioners and delegates felt that such criticism would definitely affect the Girl Guide movement, and would hamper it in recruiting Guides and Brownies.

Suggestions for a Summer uniform, such as that in use in England, met with approval, and the provincial commissioner was of the opinion that common sense and discretion on the part of the leaders, coupled with a "real sense of discipline and Guide spirit" on the part of the children, would alleviate the difficulty.

James Bay W.M.S.
The Easter thank offering meeting of the James Bay W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. G. Percy, 810 Linden Avenue, with Mrs. C. A. Fields presiding. A programme, arranged by the executive, was much enjoyed. A devotional period was held, during which short Biblical readings were given by Madames Orr, Keefe and R. H. Campbell. Mrs. J. Keating sang "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go." Mrs. Barlow accompanied her. Mrs. A. McCallum gave an interesting synopsis of the fourth chapter of the study book which dealt with the factory life in China and the spreading of Communism. Arrangements were made for supplies for the Presbyterian in charge of Mrs. Place. Refreshments were served, and at the close of the meeting, a vote of appreciation was extended to the hostess.

Knox Ladies' Aid
About sixty attended the delightful luncheon held at the Hudson's Bay Company's store, on Thursday, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Presbyterian Church. The dining-room presented a most attractive appearance, with the daintily appointed tables centred with many colored tulips. The guests were welcomed by the reception committee, consisting of Mrs. J. S. Patterson, Miss Jessie Sutherland, Mrs. E. F. Willshire and Mrs. H. W. Curtis, president of the society.

Victoria West L.A.
At a recent meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Victoria West United Church, it was decided to hold a luncheon party at the Hudson's Bay Store on May 15, at 12:15 p.m. Members and friends are cordially invited to join the ladies at this luncheon. The annual June garden party will be held on June 20, in the grounds of Mrs. Newells home, 840 Craigflower Road.

Colfax Lodge
Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1, will meet Tuesday, at 8 p.m. After the business, a school of instruction will be conducted by the district deputy, President Mrs. R. Ozard. An opportunity will be given the members to contribute to the I.O.O.F. educational foundation fund. The time a member scheme has been suggested. All Rebekahs are cordially invited to attend.

Women's Club
The Victoria Women's Conservative Association will hold its monthly social in the rooms, Campbell Building, on Thursday, April 26, at 8 p.m. All members and friends are invited, and an interesting programme has been arranged. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

Business Women's Club
The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its business meeting in the clubrooms on Monday, at 8 p.m.

In the list of best sellers covering sixty years from 1875 to the present time, as compiled by the Institute of Arts and Sciences of Columbia University, New York, the lead is taken by Rev. Dr. Sheldon's "In His Steps." "Ben Hur" comes third.

WHIST DRIVE HELD
QUALICUM BEACH, April 20.—An enjoyable military whist drive was held at Hilliers recently, in aid of the guild. The winners of the greatest number of plays were Mr. and Mrs. A. Doehle, Mrs. Chene and Mrs. J. Hirst. The consolation prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. W. H. Bartlett. There were four traveling prizes, these being won by Mrs. Valley, Mrs. Slaney, Miss J. Bond and Mr. R. Walker. A contest for a box of groceries and ten pounds of sugar, donated by Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Bolton, was won by Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Valley. A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. H. K. Harrison for kindly managing the whist drive. Members of the guild presented her with a pair of silk stockings.

"Dorothy—do stop whining! Awfully sorry, Edith—she's usually so well-behaved. But she's been cross all week."

"Don't scold her, Helen. She wasn't hungry. When my children act this way I've often found they need a laxative. Try Castoria tonight."

"See my happy little girl today, Edith! And she ate the finest lunch you ever saw! Thanks for suggesting Castoria—it's wonderful!"

"Thousands of mothers think so too, Helen. You see, Castoria is made especially for children. You'll find it splendid for stubborn cases of sour stomach. Often laxatives made for grown-ups are so strong that they are actually upsetting—but Castoria is mild and SAFE. It tastes good, too."

Married Fifty Years Today

CONGRATULATIONS are being extended today to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Durham, 709 Blanshard Street, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. They were married at Cocksie Village, near Edinburgh, Scotland, on April 21, 1884.

Mr. Durham's maiden name was Margaret Lindoes. Mr. and Mrs. Durham came to Victoria in 1911, at which time Mr. Durham became employed by the city, and later was connected with the C.P.R. until the time of his retirement.

Prior to his arrival in Canada, Mr. Durham was engaged in the fishing business in Scotland, where he owned a sailing ship and employed seven men. The ships would leave port some time in April and would be gone for eight weeks before returning home for a few weeks. This continued until quite late in the First World War, when stories are told by Mr. Durham, and also by his wife, who took an active part in the business in the way of mending the nets and curing the fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Durham had seven sons and two daughters. All of the sons served in France during the Great War, and, as a result, Robert was killed and George died from the effects of the war. Other living sons are William, who resides with his parents; Adam, a stone cutter in Bellingham; Andrew, an engineer in the mental hospital at New Westminster; and James, a cooper by trade, who resides in the United States. Mrs. Eric Rosetter, of Tacoma, and Mrs. Alex McGhee, of Bellingham, are the two daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Durham have twenty-one grandchildren and one great-grandchild. They are both members of the First United Church, and enjoy excellent health.

WHIST DRIVE HELD
QUALICUM BEACH, April 20.—An enjoyable military whist drive was held at Hilliers recently, in aid of the guild. The winners of the greatest number of plays were Mr. and Mrs. A. Doehle, Mrs. Chene and Mrs. J. Hirst. The consolation prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. W. H. Bartlett. There were four traveling prizes, these being won by Mrs. Valley, Mrs. Slaney, Miss J. Bond and Mr. R. Walker. A contest for a box of groceries and ten pounds of sugar, donated by Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Bolton, was won by Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Valley. A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. H. K. Harrison for kindly managing the whist drive. Members of the guild presented her with a pair of silk stockings.

"Dorothy—do stop whining! Awfully sorry, Edith—she's usually so well-behaved. But she's been cross all week."

"Don't scold her, Helen. She wasn't hungry. When my children act this way I've often found they need a laxative. Try Castoria tonight."

"See my happy little girl today, Edith! And she ate the finest lunch you ever saw! Thanks for suggesting Castoria—it's wonderful!"

"Thousands of mothers think so too, Helen. You see, Castoria is made especially for children. You'll find it splendid for stubborn cases of sour stomach. Often laxatives made for grown-ups are so strong that they are actually upsetting—but Castoria is mild and SAFE. It tastes good, too."

What Today Means

If April 21 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., from 1:45 to 2:45 p.m., and from 6:45 to 10:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a.m., from 8:45 to 7:45 p.m., and from 11:45 p.m. to 12:45 a.m.

On this date you possibly will meet, in a social way, an extremely egotistical individual who will try to impress you with his importance. You will be using only good common sense if you take what he gives you with not only a grain of salt, but a heaping teaspoonful of it. Be careful, however, not to openly offend this person, for it is always better to have the friendship than the enmity of this type. In business carefully recheck any figures you have occasion to submit or receive.

If April 21 is your birthday and you are a woman, impatience is a quality almost unknown to you, but it might sometimes be advisable for a slight display of this characteristic with people who, knowing your natural composure, take advantage of it. Forbearance is a very admirable virtue, providing it does not get you into such a habit of submissiveness that people will misconstrue it as indicative of weakness.

The child born on April 21, as it grows up, will be very graceful, and will display this gift of bodily carriage in every movement, whether walking or dancing. If it evinces the slightest interest in music, it should be encouraged by the engaging of a good music teacher. It is most essential that care should be exercised in the selection of its playmates, as, in its formative years, it will be greatly influenced by its associates.

Women born on April 21 have the happy faculty of being perfectly willing to wait patiently for any financial reasons delay the consummation of their dreams, they prove their good sportsmanship by not complaining or trying to force conditions faster than circumstances warrant. Being prudent they do not believe in running unnecessary risks. Men born on April 21 have a tremendous amount of determination and persistence, and seldom will acknowledge defeat. They can as a rule keep their tempers under splendid control, but when they get very angry they explode with terrific force.

If born on this date, you have a strong sense of loyalty to both family and friends, and blood, to your way of thinking, is really "thicker than water." You will go far to be able to serve any of your close relatives.

People born on April 21, and others born in the sign Taurus, are temperamentally fitted to serve in positions of public trust, especially in positions calling for financial responsibility.

"I'll bet you were mad when you caught that skunk."

"You bet, I was lucky indeed."

We frequently hear today that money is the root of all evil. And we find the same thought expressed in the same way throughout the literature of centuries.

"THE ROOT OF ALL EVIL"

For the origin of this saying we must go to the Bible. It is in the New Testament, in the sixth chapter of the first book of Timothy, that we find its source, as follows: "For the love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

MANY EVENTS ON CALENDAR

Canada Calls the Seeker of Outdoor Thrills With Summer Started

With the welcome approach of the season, when the entire Dominion is beset by its annual knickerbocker and camera-swinging tourist army, some hope is held that Canada will again lead the way in this summer event, a hope which seems to be based with some prospect of fulfillment, considering the long list of impressive events listed from coast to coast.

These events do not begin with the music festival at Victoria, although it is perhaps the event which Canadians on the Pacific Coast are looking forward to most. It is scheduled for May 1 and May 5, followed by the May 24 regatta.

Edmonton is seriously concerned with preparations for the Highland games on May 24, while on that date also Toronto will, for two days, hold a centennial celebration which will draw many visitors from other parts of Canada as well as the United States, and which will be continued again during the first week in July.

CALGARY STAMPEDE

The Calgary Stampede, now a national annual exhibition, on July 14, precedes a number of important Western Canadian exhibitions, while the annual Trail Ride of the Canadian Rockies from Banff begins at Leacholi, west of Field, on July 27, lasting for four days, the first of the important summer activities in the Canadian Rockies in the Banff-Lake Louise area, excepting the annual camp of the Canadian Alpine Club, July 16-31.

The newly-organized Skyline Trail hikers of the Canadian Rockies will hold their second annual hike, beginning at Emerald Lake and occupying three days, in an investigation of the picturesque Yoho Valley, starting August 3, which will be composed of visitors to the Rockies who wish to see those views in Yoho which can only be appreciated from some high pass or skyline trail.

Indian Days at Banff, August 17-19, Prince of Wales and Willingdon golf tournaments at Banff, August 20-25, are traditional features in the Rockies. Toronto repeats her Centennial celebrations, August 2-4, followed by the Canadian National Exhibition, August 24 to September 7, and Vancouver, August 29 to September 5.

VICTORIA EXHIBITION

Victoria again comes forward with an exhibition, August 26 to September 7, and Vancouver, August 29 to September 5.

In the Maritimes, Nova Scotia's exhibition opens about August 27 to September 3; the Sherbrooke fair opening on the same day and lasting until September 1, while the Saint John Exhibition is slated to open September 1, for a week. Fredericton's date for a similar fair is September 8-15. The Western Fair at London, Ontario, is to be held September 10-15.

A rather important Maritime senior golf tournament will be held in August at Digby, N.S., followed by a later tournament in September.

Macon Leaves Hangar at Sunnyvale

SUNNYVALE, Cal., April 20 (AP).—Rising from the mooring mast at 9:30 o'clock this morning, the dirigible Macon today began its cross-country journey to Florida, to participate in maneuvers with the United States fleet in the Caribbean Sea. A slight haze hung over Moffatt Field here, as the Macon went aloft, and turned its nose southward. Three days is the estimated time for the flight, which will be the longest the dirigible has attempted since it came from the East Coast last October, to its base here, in seventy hours.

The Emma K. is alleged to have been in the run-running business, arrived in Vancouver from Ensenada, Mexico, on March 25, and has been under investigation by customs officials here ever since. It is alleged Purdy, a United States citizen, swore he was a Canadian when registering the vessel.

A wage claim of $2,365 has also been registered against the owners of the vessel by the master and engineer.

A sixth plane is scheduled to fly to Seattle the latter part of next week.

The flyers were expected to arrive at Bakersfield, California, about noon. After lunch they are scheduled to continue on to Sacramento, where the night will be spent. Tomorrow's schedule calls for a stop at Medford, Oregon, before Eugene is reached for a night stopover. The flyers are due at Seattle Sunday morning. Lieutenant-Commander G. T. Air Travel Time Greatly Reduced in Recent Years

With still faster coast-to-coast schedules being considered by United Air Lines, that company today revealed how radically coast-country air travel has been reduced since it began operating on the Pacific Coast-New York route seven years ago.

When the postoffice retired from operation of air mail planes and awarded the contracts to divisions of United Air Lines, which were the lowest responsible bidders, the fastest schedule for the Pacific Coast to New York was thirty hours, forty-five minutes. Chronologically, the reduction in coast-to-coast plane time has been: 1927, thirty hours, forty-five minutes; 1928, twenty-nine hours, forty-five minutes; 1931, twenty-seven hours, thirty minutes; 1932, twenty-seven hours, 1934, nineteen hours, thirty minutes.

Present air travel time from Seattle to New York is twenty-two hours and thirty minutes, the air distance from Seattle to the Atlantic coast is 2,395 miles.

United's present schedules, which rank as the fastest from coast to coast, have been made possible by the company's $4,000,000 fleet of Seaplane, multi-motored Boeing transport planes.

New York Giants Capture Fourth Straight Game in National League

Four-Run Rally In Sixth Gives Champions Win

Two Timely Bunts Help Giants to 7-3 Victory Over Boston Braves — Dodgers Trample on Phils Again — A's Pound Senators

NATIONAL LEAGUE
NEW YORK, April 20 (AP).—New York Giants crossed Ben Cantwell up with a couple of timely bunts in the sixth today and started a four-run rally that enabled them to continue their victory march with a 7-3 triumph over Boston Braves in the first contest of the series. It was the champions' fourth straight victory.

The rally, which broke a 3-3 tie, started when Travis Jackson bunted a single off the pitcher's glove. Watkins bunted to Cantwell, and he threw wild to second trying to catch Jackson. Then Verges promptly laid down another bunt and beat it out to fill the bases. Cantwell forced in a run by hitting pinch-batman Frank O'Doul and Joe Moore slashed out a double to send two more home. O'Doul stopped at third, then scored after Biondy Ryan's fly.

PHILS Lose Again
BROOKLYN, April 20 (AP).—A pair of Dodger rookies, Emil Leonard and Len Koenecke, accomplished the downfall of the Phils for the fourth time this season today as they led Brooklyn to a 5-0 victory in the series opener.

Leonard, making his first start for Brooklyn, blanked the Phils with six hits. Koenecke, besides furnishing some of the excellent support given the young knuckle ball hurler, walloped two home runs and two singles, accounting for four tallies, and wasn't put out all afternoon.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
PHILADELPHIA, April 20 (AP).—Philadelphia Athletics landed on four Washington pitchers today for nine hits—two of them for extra bases—and pounded the American League champions into a 9-6 defeat.

Connie Mack had to call on three hurriers—Johnny Marcum, Bill Dietrick and Bob Kline—before the Senators finally were subdued to give the A's their second win in four starts.

CLEVELAND, April 20 (AP).—Scoring all their runs in the ninth inning, Detroit Tigers bested Cleveland Indians 4-0, today in a duel between two scintillating hurlers.

Fischer, winning hurler, held the tribe to five hits.

Lloyd Brown, on the slab for the Indians, breezed along steadily until the ninth. Then Gosselin opened with a walk and was safe at second when he beat Brown's throw on Walker's sacrifice.

Greenberg also sacrificed, and with Walker on second, Gosselin on third, Doljack was purposely passed, filling the bases. At that point, Marvin Owen stepped to the plate and rocketed a double off the right field wall, going for three runs. Owen reached third on Averil's bad throw to the plate, and scored on a final counter a moment later on a sacrifice by Fischer.

COAST LEAGUE
With big Herman Pillette hurling his second straight shutout victory of the season, the Seattle Indians, at home, evened the count with Hollywood, Friday, winning the fourth game of the series, 5 to 0.

The tribe batsmen pounded Frank Schellenback for one run in the first inning, two in the second and two more in the fifth, to score their second win over the Stars.

The most delivery of Clarence Mitchell, veteran spitballer, limited the Portland batsmen to seven hits in the San Francisco Mission won, 5 to 4, taking a three to one lead to the series.

The visiting Mission hitters raged in the third inning, and drove Hal Turpin from the mound with five hits, good for four runs, and added another hit and run in the same inning from Ragland, who replaced Turpin. Outfielder Hefey, of the Missions, again contributed a home run to his team's scoring.

An eight-inning rally by Oakland, producing three runs, was still much too weak, and Los Angeles won, 6 to 4, at home.

West's Will Field Switched Line-Up For Today's Match

Several Changes Made on Greenshirts' Eleven for Province Cup Game Against Victoria City—Second Division Tussle to Follow

At Royal Athletic Park, in the Pacific Coast League. Starting at 2:30 o'clock, Victoria West and Victoria City first division clubs will hook up in a Province Cup match, followed by Victoria West and Saanich Thistles second division eleven in a replay in the Combination Cup competition. The second game is billed to commence at 4 o'clock. Overtime will take place in each game, if necessary.

After suffering a 3-2 defeat a fortnight ago against Esquimalt in a match in which they should at least have gained a draw, Manager Doc Poyntz has switched the West's eleven for the City tussle. He has replaced Alf Hood in goal for Art Griffiths, a goalie who has played on several teams in recent seasons and turned in some fine performances. Jimmy Patterson, a second-division player, will be at outside left, and Harry Youson has been given the pivot position in place of Ernie Bettefeger, who has left the city.

HALF LINE STRONG

Victoria West and Dutch Thompson, two sturdy young fullbacks, will be in front of Griffiths, with a steady and reliable intermediate rank will be in action with Storey, Barnes and Stewart in uniform. At right wing will be Tommy Mungrace, while Terry Peters and Scotty Robinson will look after the inside positions. Victoria City will have fourteen players to select from and will field their best line at the start with hopes of reaching the local final against Saanich Thistles, who eliminated Esquimalt some weeks ago.

The second match is expected to be a hard-fought one all the way, with two well-balanced teams on the field. In their last match, Saanich Thistles were leading 4-1, when the game was halted on account of muddy ground conditions and a heavy downpour of rain. Victoria West won the second division title after some tough battles with Saanich Thistles.

The following will be chosen from the following: Stewart, Painter, A. Pears, Reside, Thompson, Cockin, Lambie, Tutill, Price, Collins, Hynes, Geoghegan and G. Pears.

FINALS AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, April 20 (CP).—The Canadian Amateur Basketball Association today approved dates for the senior men's championship finals to be held at the Forum here next week.

Joe Hornstein, president of the Quebec Association, submitted April 26, 28 and 30 as dates for the first three games, with May 1 and 3, if necessary, for the fourth and fifth. The Dominion secretary at Vancouver today wired that the dates were acceptable.

The series will see Montreal Nationals represent Eastern Canada as Montreal's first senior Dominion finalists since 1928.

Opposing Nationals will be either Vancouver Province or Winnipeg Robertson Memorial, now fighting for the Western Canadian title.

A Montreal team has never won the title, the closest being the

The special match game rolled on the Port Street alleys yesterday evening, between the Capitals and a picked team, resulted in a win for the latter five by 136 runs.

The Capitals were without the services of Matthews, who has been rolling a strong game lately, and were several pins below their average. Jordan, of the picked team, had the high score, also high average. The scores follow: Capitals—Jameson, 42; Pirie, 52; Wood, 43; Brooke, 44; Moran, 50. Picked team—Mudge, 44; Anderson, 42; Barton, 35; Hick, 44; Jordan 60.

Willus Britt, manager of Stanley Ketchell, the middleweight champion, has just heard from Pittsburgh that Jack Johnson, colored heavyweight titleholder, intends to sidestep his match with Ketchell, now that Jeffries has announced his intention to meet the negro, as said last night, to the press of New York, that he was willing to let the match go, but that he and Ketchell would claim the $5,000 that Johnson deposited for a forfeit.

The National Baseball League was officially opened yesterday, with Cincinnati taking an exciting game from the Pittsburgh Pirates by a 7-4 score. Play in the American League continued with Washington, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Chicago chalking up victories.

"Well—no. There may be exceptions," returned the chaplain, "but generally speaking, I find thieves to be just about as bad as other people."

TWO EVENLY MATCHED TEAMS TO BATTLE FOR CUP

Portsmouth and Manchester City Meet Next Week

Final of English Soccer Classic Will Bring Together Two of Best-Balanced Teams in First Class Football Next Saturday at Wembley Stadium

WEMBLEY STADIUM, April 20 (CP).—When Portsmouth and Manchester City step on the field here next week for the English Soccer Cup final, it will be a battle between two of the most evenly-matched sides in first-class soccer.

Manchester City, making their fourth appearance in the final, is a somewhat difficult team to weigh up. There is no suggestion of greatness about their style. Speedy wing play, first time shooting and energetic defenders are their chief attributes, although in Busby and McKelvie they have two artistic attackers.

Portsmouth is a good Cup team. With varied methods in attack, accuracy in shooting, and a sound defence, they appear to stand a pretty good chance of winning the trophy for the first time in the club's history.

CAPABLE GOALIE
In J. Gillman, Portsmouth have a very capable goalkeeper who is as "safe as houses." He has saved his side on many occasions, particularly against Bolton Wanderers, in the sixth round.

J. A. Mackie, the right back, wears well. He possesses fine judgment and a fine knowledge of positional play, while his kicking is very sure. His partner, Willie Smith, is also a sturdy defender and a sound kicker. They are a stern pair of fullbacks.

The halfback line, with Nichol on the right and (Captain) D. Thackeray on the left, is capable of combining defence with attack. The pivotal position is in the capable hands of J. Allen, the England centre half. He plays the third back game to perfection.

The general of the attack is Jack Smith, the England inside right. He is the "brains" of the line, and in J. Weddle, in the centre, he has the right man to translate his scheming into goals. A cool, constructive player, Smith is the connecting link with halfbacks and forwards, and his presence has a steadying influence on the rest of the line. One of Smith's greatest assets is that he can keep the ball on the ground. There is no wild lunging about him.

WEDDIE STRONG PLAYER
Weddle, a tall, well-built player, is of the go-ahead straight-forward type, and very difficult to hold. His display against Leicester, with Heywood in opposition, marks him as a player of great possibilities. F. Worrall, on the right wing, is a goal-scoring winger who uses his

Letters to the Editor

SATURDAY'S SOCCER
To the Sports Editor:

Sir,—As a spectator of the soccer game on Saturday last, between Victoria United and Kerrisdale clubs, may I be permitted to express my opinion of the game in general. Kerrisdale were on top of their form to a man, and gave a great exhibition of football science and pep, too much of the latter at times. On the other hand, the local team were absolutely off their pep, and seemed to be lacking in pep and knowledge of the game.

Coming to the unfortunate incident that occurred immediately prior to half time, resulting in a player being sent off the field, I wish to say that I regret such an occurrence, but as I understand the matter, he had previously warned the player in question for a similar incident.

As to whether the referee's view of the incident was correct is a matter of opinion. He is in complete control and must be given credit for giving decisions as he sees them, not as the spectators see them.

In my opinion he showed moral courage in upholding the laws of the game, as called for, particularly when it is remembered that he had previously awarded a penalty kick against the local team for a "foul" against the same player who he unfortunately was compelled to send off.

The actions of two of the officials of the Kerrisdale Club against the referee on the field should also be reported to the association. Might I be permitted to say, in closing, that the article in your issue of Wednesday, April 18, under the heading of "Soccer Chat," by A. F. A. N., is one that should appear to all lovers of the soccer game. It is the most reasonable and sensible criticism of last Saturday's game and incident.

GORMAN QUILTS AS PILOT OF BLACK HAWKS

Manager of Stanley Cup-holders to Devote Time to Racing Interests

CHICAGO, April 20 (AP).—Tommy Gorman, who managed Chicago Black Hawks to the world's hockey championship, today had resigned to give all his time to his duties as secretary of the Quebec Racing Association. The announcement of his resignation, rumored during the Stanley Cup series, was made by Major Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Black Hawks, who said a successor had been selected, but declined to divulge his identity.

"Some time before the start of the play-off games (Stanley Cup series) Manager Gorman notified us that because of his racing connections he felt he would be unable to manage the Black Hawks after this season," said Major McLaughlin in a prepared statement. "Because of our pleasant relations with Gorman and his great success in managing the team this was a great disappointment to us. His consideration in giving notice so far in advance of his intentions did, however, enable us to make a thorough canvass of the field in looking for his successor, and we have been very fortunate in picking a man who will be able to follow successfully in his footsteps. Owing to certain circumstances we are unable to announce the new manager's name at present, but hope to do so shortly."

I CONFIRMS REPORT
OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—Tommy Gorman, confirming the announcement from Chicago that he had definitely decided to relinquish his duties as manager of the world's champion Black Hawks, said: "When I agreed with Major McLaughlin in January, 1933, to take control of the Black Hawks it was with the understanding that I would remain in charge only until such time as the team had been re-built. I recently found it impossible to carry on my racing duties and continue with the Black Hawks—hence my resignation from the Chicago club."

PRACTICE SWINGS IN THE BUNKERS
Practice swings on the part of some players have been causing heartburn among the members of a golf club out at the Lakehead, so much so that a member of the golf club has written to ask if practice swings are permitted under the Rules of Golf.

There are many golfers who have at times wished they were not particularly when they were being over-indulged in by the player or match in front. However, they are perfectly legal and proper, though they should not be indulged in to the annoyance or detriment of any players who are following. One has but to watch some high-ranking players to note the extent to which these golfers indulge in practice swinging. And there are other players, not so high-ranking, with whom they have become a sort of obsession, even to the extent of holding up the play of other golfers.

Under Rule 15 as it stood before amendment there was a possibility that a practice swing might come under the ban. The rule prohibited the player from "moving, bending, or breaking any fixed or growing object," a thing which was done in practice swings, consequently a ruling was asked for and published. So the arguments were being referred to the United States Golf

Association for settlement that the following edict was issued:

"The penalty should not be applied to on infringement of this rule occurring in a practice swing or swings, provided it is more than a club length from the ball."

In amending Rule 15 this has been taken care of. A player is now prohibited from "improving the position of his ball" by moving, bending or breaking any fixed or growing thing except in taking a fair stance or in his forward or backward swing.

There is nothing against practice swings, within reason, but the player should stand at least a club length away from his ball and he should not swing in the direction of play.

The same writer complains that some players allow their caddies to walk through the bunkers, damaging them and leaving footprints in the sand. Obviously such players have neither delved deeply into the rules of golf nor taken particular notice of more experienced players.

Under Clause 7 of the Etiquette of Golf they will find the following instruction: "Players should carefully fill up all holes made in a bunker."

There is no need for caddies entering bunkers. Players should be able to do it for themselves, and should also see that they do not damage the putting green close to the hole by stamping around the cups.

In clubs where there are a number of new players, it seems a good practice for the club captain, or some other club officer to take advantage of club meetings and gatherings in order to instruct their members on matters such as this.

BIG CROWD WILL WATCH ICE TEAMS

Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Wings to Appear at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, April 20 (CP).—Two of the National Hockey League's crack machines, Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings, step on the ice here tomorrow night in the first of a three-game exhibition series, which marks the end of one of the greatest post-season trips in hockey. The exhibition series concludes the trans-Canada tour, which packed ice arenas in Winnipeg and Trail.

For Coast fans it will be the first exhibition of major league hockey since 1929, when the Boston Bruins performed against Vancouver, of the old Pacific Coast League.

WEATHER ENTHUSIASTS
Headed by Conny Smythe and Jack Adams, respective managers of the Leafs and Wings, the half-million dollar carload of hockey talent arrived here today to be greeted with perfect Summer weather that had most of the boys forgetting what a thing as ice ever existed. Even Harvey Jackson, crack Toronto winger and angling enthusiast, refused a fishing trip when he found he would have to stay away two days.

The second game of the series will be played Monday with the third set for Thursday.

The teams will leave on the return trip East Friday.

Stella M. and J. R. have an old question to ask: "Why is it that when I'm with him I don't care so much about him, yet if he stays away for any length of time I can't keep my mind off him. And once when he went away for a month, I really began to think I was in love with him?"

The answer is that any girl who isn't beset with dozens of admirers, and the flattery. She wants to be loved and if there's absolutely nobody to look adoring when Mr. Steady is away she's bound to want him back. This feeling is not to be confused with love. It hasn't anything to do with it. It is good old feminine vanity—and if it is permitted to go unchecked it can work cruel harm on the young admirer.

For the girl who is unwilling to part with the only admiration she's ever received will sometimes cause an unfortunate suitor to hang around indefinitely so that her vanity may be soothed and her self-esteem kept intact.

If a man gets on your nerves when he's around—and stays on your mind when he's away—it's a sure sign that you want his flattery and not him.

The best cure is to go out determined to make new friends and give yourself a new audience and a new interest in life. That's the only fair thing to do for the sake of the poor sufferer, who may be mistaking your symptoms of flattered vanity for those of true love.

RETAINING A LONG-DISTANCE LOVE

Dear Miss Vane:—D. is away at college. When he went away first, he wrote me frequently. Then he met H., whom he likes very much. He says frankly he would have fallen for her if it hadn't been for me. But he insists that he loves me better than anything else in the world. He tells me anything at all I want to know about him and seems to be speaking the truth. But he hasn't the money to come and see me often, and I'm afraid H.'s proximity will do the trick. What is the best thing for me to do?—Jane.

If D. is going to go off the rails about a new charmer the minute he is out of sight and sound of you, you'd better sit back and see what happens.

Better to have this test come now when no serious step has been taken—no serious promises have been made—than to know the agony of suspense later on. If D. comes through this experience, you may be certain that his brand of devotion is one hundred per cent guaranteed, not to fade material.

And if he succumbs to the effects of proximity you will have lost only an imitation of love. The chances are that D., like any other boy in his position, wants to have someone to play around with, and why not. If he is agreeable and attractive enough to make her company desirable, it is only natural that D. should find it easy to see a lot of her in spite of his loyalty to you.

You'll win out if D. is in earnest about you. And while you're waiting to hear the returns, make sure that your letters are of the bright, cheerful variety, which keep a man interested. Don't ask too many questions. Make a few statements about your own good times and your own admirers, which may impel D. to think up some questions himself.

If you whine, or cross-examine, you can bet your last dollar H. will win. But if you keep your head and your sense of humor, there is no reason why you shouldn't be the Only Girl after all.

WONDERING SHOULDN'T TAKE THIS BOY SERIOUSLY

Wondering's hero asked her to go to a dance with him, then phoned to say that he'd meet her at the dance—and on the appointed night appeared at the festivities, all his attention centred on another lady. Wondering wants to know how to treat the situation.

Make up your mind not to build any romantic dreams around such a fickle young man. If his company is worth it, be friendly and have an occasional date with him. But think not at all of love or trousseau or anything in that line. Nothing can make a girl's life more miserable than the hopeless effort to capture the affection of a naturally wandering male.

She can waste all her time and energy thinking up methods of achieving the impossible, and all the time she may be passing up a dozen good opportunities.

Forget the romantic angle in this case. Wondering: Harden your heart and prepare to be on friendly terms with your somewhat cavalier Romeo. But on no account let him persuade you into taking him seriously as a great lover.

M.K.—Glad to hear that still another old-fashioned girl has been cheered to know of the existence of Lonely Bachelor From Necessity. Now that you know there's the kind of man who needs the kind of a dame like you, M.K., you can face the world with renewed courage. Sorry that I can't send on names and addresses to correspondents, but I will be glad to print any words of good cheer you may have for the poor afflicted men who are running around in circles to find the right sort of girl.

"One guinea," he was told. "But I never asked you to call," she snapped. "No, madam; but your neighbors then at her, he exclaimed: "Aren't you a little dear?" "So they say," answered the lady, demurely.
